Hue

Designed by Jehs+Laub

Hue by Jehs+Laub is an elegant line of cases with a clean, architectural look, intended to become one with its surroundings. The collection begins with the Lowboard - the shortest case style at 21 5/8", with a variety of options for unique applications. While each case comes standard with a 1" plinth base, the Lowboard also offers an optional four-leg metal base and a wall-mounted option.

Every case is offered with hinged doors in two, three, four, or five-door widths.

The Hue Sideboard is an in-between size at 31 1/2" high, great for supplemental case good applications.

The Lowboard and Sideboard cases also come with a sliding door option. The sliding doors feature a patented mechanism designed for a more efficient use of space. This slideboard mechanism allows the doors to slide in front of one another, rather than swinging outward, providing a smooth, quiet, and efficient method for opening and closing cases.

Hue Highboards are the tallest of the standard cases at 42 1/8" high. More than just storage units, Hue can be used in a multitude of formats for open space planning, conference room storage, or as case good supplements. Hue's universal design language allows it to take on the architectural aesthetic of its environment.

Most units offer an optional finished back panel perfect for open applications. The finished back panel is overlaid for a cleaner look and ideal for units where the back will be clearly visible.

The Hue collection also offers wardrobes, ideal for space separation and creating spaces that work within the context of a larger design. Wardrobes are offered in one and two door-widths, and the single door case is offered as left or right-facing.

The two-door wardrobes are offered with all interior shelving or with a combination of shelving and a coat rack. These wardrobes are offered in two depths, the wider of the two featuring a coat rack running side-to-side and the narrow option running front-to-back.

Box Drawers

Hanging File Drawer

All Hue cases come standard with a set number of interior shelves, but provide options for additional shelves, box drawers, and hanging file frames. Shelves are finished to match the cases, as are the box drawer fronts. Quantities of interior options vary per unit size, but all cases are available with several interior configurations. Each case and wardrobe also has the option for a door lock.
