Fina

Designed by Wolfgang C.R. Mezger

While sublimely understated in design, Fina represents just how far the limits of bent plywood technology can be pushed by using a thinner shell than ever before. The slight concave shape of the seat and back create the feeling of being cradled in a gentle embrace. Its incredibly thin shell contributes to a look of elegance and allows for more flexibility in the back. User comfort is further enhanced with a waterfall edge along the front of the seat. The 4-leg and sled bases are available with arms that flow up from the base in a continuous line and feature wood inset armrests.
