MilanoLight

Designed by Wolfgang C.R. Mezger

With the introduction of MilanoLight, Wolfgang C.R. Mezger pushes the limits of bent plywood technology even further, creating a tighter angle than ever before. The result is a magnificently minimalist chair that features a subtly curved back, thin metal legs, and optional, unobtrusive arms. Available in veneer, laminate, and several upholstered configurations, MilanoLight is a perfect specimen of understated beauty.

The simplicity of MilanoLight's mitered leg joints belies the substantial impact that this small detail lends to the overall aesthetic of the piece. Not only are they the mark of quality craftsmanship, these hard right angles contrast against the shell's soft and graceful curves to form the perfect balance of substance and style.
